STEEL WORKERS REPORT PEACE PROPOSAL UNSATISFACTORY

NEW ASSAULT UNLEASHED ON RED CENTERS

Seoul, Korea (AP)—United Nations warplanes unleashed withering assaults on Communist front-line positions today in one of the most serious close support days in the Korean war.

U. S. Sabre Jets probably destroyed one Russian-built MIG-15 damaged another, the Air Force said, in MIG Alley duels. Air Force and Marine fighters swept low over the hills and bombed, rocketed and strafed positions near Yonchon, Pyongyang, Kumsong, the Puchonbowl and the East Coast.

Other Air Force fighter-bombers, in planes from the Marines, Australians and Republic of Korea, hit supply areas behind the front.

The Air Force said the strike killed 66 troops and supply bunks, leveled 28 gun positions and destroyed one self-propelled gun, two mortars and one vehicle and inflicted at least 23 casualties on the troops.

In the aerial battles, two Sabre jets of a flight of the fourth fighter-interceptor wing were jumped by six MIGs over Sinuiju of the East wing tangled with eight IGs.

In the first battle, Lt. Robert Ronca of Norristown, Pa., downed a MIG. In the second fight, Canadian exchange pilot, Flight Lt. Lawrence E. Spurr of Middleboro, Nova Scotia, probably downed MIG, his first.

Sporadic ground fighting centered on the rugged Eastern Front, here Allied troops seized a strategic hill after a three-day battle and held it in the face of an hour and a half counterattack by North Koreans.

The hill, a few thousand yards from the East Coast, fell after three days of infantry assault, aerial bombardment and air strikes.

Elsewhere along the front, the Eighth Army reported only routine skirmishes.

NEW LINER RACES FOR MORE SPEED LAURELS

Aboard U. S. S. United States, Sea (AP)—The new first lady of American shipping, the liner United States, poured on the steam today and raced for a new air in her speed crown.

On the homeward stretch of her maiden round-trip Atlantic crossing, the 53,000-ton American pride opened crates to break the Queen Mary's 14-year record for the New York-to-American crossing early.

Dem Presidential Nomination Race In Home Stretch With a Large Field Closely Bunched

State Delegation Is Still Undecided On Choice for Nominee

Harrisburg (AP)—Pennsylvania's Democratic will go to Chicago next week undecided on a presidential nominee and possibly divided on their own leadership.

As one Democratic delegate, who declined quotation by name, put it: "There's no Governor John S. Fine to control the bulk of the delegation. Most of the 80 people in the Democratic delegation have no patronage strings."

He referred to Fine's ability last week to swing more than 50 votes in the Pennsylvania Republican delegation toward the successful candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Some of the 50 were inclined toward Sen. Robert A. Taft but swung along with Fine for patronage reasons.

The Democratic delegate, a leading figure in his party immediately after World War II, said there's a possibility of "a break between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia."

He pointed out that Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia district attorney and defeated candidate for governor in 1950, already has come out for Sen. Estes Kefauver for (Turn to Page Three)

Keel Is Laid Today For Giant Carrier

Newport News, Va. (AP)—The Navy today laid the keel of a giant aircraft carrier whose range and planes can bring within reach the "innermost lairs" of any aggressor nation.

Deputy Secretary of Defense William C. Foster described this as one of the capabilities of the 60,000-ton carrier Forrestal, to be the biggest warship of the world's navies when completed.

The ship, first of two of the class which Congress so far has authorized the Navy to build, will cost an estimated 218 million dollars, excluding cost of the 100 or more planes of the carrier.

At normal construction rate, the Forrestal will be ready to join the fleet in late 1954. In an emergency, building can be speeded up.

Former Senator Certain Ike Can Carry State of Illinois

Chicago (AP)—Former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks told Dwight Eisenhower today that the general will carry Illinois in the November presidential election even if the Democrats draft Gov. Adlai Stevenson to head their ticket.

Brooks, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, conferred with Eisenhower—the GOP presidential nominee—at the general's Blackstone Hotel Headquarters.

After the conference, Brooks told newsmen he had come in to discuss "the Illinois situation" with Eisenhower.

Brooks noted that the 60-vote Illinois delegation to last week's Republican convention had lined up for Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and 1 for Eisenhower.

Brooks said that despite that situation, Illinois party workers will give Eisenhower wholehearted support.

Before seeing Eisenhower Brooks said that if Stevenson is not drafted by the Democrats, he will be defeated by the Republicans in his bid for reelection as governor.

Stevenson has left the door open for a presidential draft, but has insisted repeatedly that he is interested only in re-election as governor.

Before Brooks arrived, Eisenhower had breakfast with Chicago police Sergeant Robert C. Schmidt, who has been in charge of Eisenhower's motorcycle escort here, and Schmidt's 16-year-old nephew, Maurice Houghland of Chicago.

Meanwhile, Eisenhower began a search for a new campaign manager after reluctantly letting Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts step aside.

The general also made ready to leave by plane tonight for Denver and a vacation.

MATS Helicopters to Take Off Tuesday On First Attempted Trans-Atlantic Flight

Westover Air Force Base, Mass. (AP)—Two military air transport service MATS helicopters manned by war-veteran Air Force fliers are scheduled to take off Tuesday in the first attempted trans-Atlantic flights—4,000 miles to Wiesbaden, Germany.

Westover Air Force Base officials said last night that the craft—the Hop-A-Long and the Whirl-O-Way—will take off at 8 a. m. EST, weather permitting, on the longest hop ever attempted by helicopters.

Each craft will carry a pilot and co-pilot. Three of the four are veterans of helicopter service.

Six stops are planned enroute—

MOTEL NEAR BUTLER SCENE OF SLAYING

Butler (AP)—A woman found slain in a nearby motel was identified today as a Pittsburgh housewife. A Pittsburgh shipping clerk was arrested and charged with her murder.

Sgt. Paul Rittelman of the state police said the woman was named by her husband as Mrs. Virginia Hill, 40.

Charged with the fatal beating is Victor A. Borowski, 30. He is being held in Butler County Jail.

Mrs. Hill's battered body was found crumpled on the floor of Claypoole's Motel, about eight miles south of Butler, by the establishment's owner, Mrs. Susan Claypoole.

Sgt. Paul Rittelman of Butler state police barracks said Borowski admitted taking the victim to the Motel Thursday night after picking her up and making stops at several taverns between Pittsburgh and Butler, 34 miles away.

Borowski said in a statement he left the Motel after registering under false names and went to get some beer. He told state police he returned, argued with Mrs. Hill and struck her in the face with his fist, causing her nose to bleed.

The coroner's report showed Mrs. Hill died of a brain hemorrhage.

State police took Borowski to the motel where, they said, he enacted the incident.

A team of eight state policemen, assisted by detectives from Pittsburgh, checked every tavern between Pittsburgh and Butler and one "clue lead to the capture of Borowski, Rittelman said.

A barkeeper in a tavern in Hampton Township gave them the name Victor. State police claim this tip led to Borowski's arrest. Police arrested him at his home as he was about to leave on a trip to Erie with his family.

Pennsylvanians Are On 24-Hour Watch For Enemy Aircraft

Harrisburg (AP)—Pennsylvanians throughout the Commonwealth gazed skyward today in opening an around-the-clock watch for enemy aircraft.

Some 75 to 80 per cent of 627 observation posts in the state will be manned at the outset of the program that will continue at least into the fall months, said Dr. Richard B. Gerstell, state civil defense director.

Filter stations at Harrisburg and Pittsburgh are adequately manned to receive and process calls from the observation points.

"Operation Skywatch" was set up by the Air Force after learning that Russia had the atomic bomb and bombers capable of striking the United States, Gerstell said.

Aircraft is reported to filter stations by special telephones from the civilian watchers. The stations check the reports against flight information supplied by the Air Force. The reports are in turn passed on to the Air Defense Command whose jet interceptors are on a 24-hour alert.

CEMETERY VANDALS

Oil City (AP)—Police searched today for vandals who overturned 69 gravestones and ripped flags from veterans' graves in the Catholic Cemetery here. Half of the gravestones were broken. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

SIX TRAFFIC DEATHS

Pittsburgh (AP)—Weekend traffic crashes in Western Pennsylvania cost six lives. Other tragedies accounted for another two deaths.

Youth Dies Instantly In Follette Run Road Crash

DEATH CAR: Above is pictured the wreck of the 1937 Ford coupe, owned by Kevin Carter, 18, 100 West Third avenue, which crashed on the Follette Run road, about two miles from Venturatown, early Saturday morning, causing instant death of Allen Bancroft, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bancroft, 117 Beatty street. Carter was admitted to the hospital in an unconscious condition but has rallied and he is reported good today. Both youths were members of the Warren High School graduating class this year.

Good Tickets Still Available for Big Circus Next Friday

Ticket sales for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Airport lot this Friday, July 18, circus, to show on the Warren went into the last five-day stretch this morning with seats still available.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce circus committee said today that four sections of the $3 tickets still remain unsold for both afternoon and evening performances, with general admission bleacher seats still available for both performances.

Kenneth Gwinnett of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey office force, is now in charge of ticket sales at the booth in Kinnear's store, 225 Liberty street. Tickets will be on sale at Kinnear's during regular store hours until 11 a. m. on circus day.

Another well-attended "work bee" was carried out with great success from 1 to 4 p. m. Sunday, on property near the Airport which the Jaycees will use for parking cars. Extreme care will be exercised by the Jaycees in instructing drivers where to park, and the field will be covered by insurance.

Johnsonburg Youth Victim of Shooting

Paul Silk, 23, of Wilcox, was to be arraigned at Ridgway today in connection with the shooting, at 2 a. m. Sunday, of Francis Cherry, 23, of Johnsonburg, who was in "good" condition in a Kane hospital this morning.

OIL CITY PLANNING FOR GABRESKI DAY

Pittsburgh (AP)—This steel city will observe July 29 as "Col. Francis S. Gabreski Day" in honor of America's greatest active combat pilot.

The Oil City ace will be presented with the keys to the city and will be guest speaker at a Polish Day celebration at Kennywood Park. Gabreski, credited with destroying 37½ planes in World War II and over Korea, is home on a 30-day furlough.

Services in memory of Gerald Allen Bancroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bancroft, 117 Beatty street, killed instantly when a 1937 Ford coupe, owned by Kevin Carter, 18, of 100 West Third avenue, missed a curve and turned turtle on the Follette Run road, about two miles from Route 62, early Saturday morning, will be held from the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Nora Gustafson, of St. Paul's Lutheran church will officiate, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery. Friends are being received at the funeral home at the usual hours.

The accident in which Bancroft met his death is still under investigation by the State police, sheriff, coroner and district attorney's office. It is believed to have occurred about one o'clock Saturday morning while the two youths, in the car owned by Carter, were driving north on the Follette Run road. It has been learned that they had been touring through sections of Warren county and New York State during the evening. It has not been established just where they were going when the tragedy occurred.

Discovery of the accident was made by William Nicklas, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nicklas, Sr., who reside on a farm just north of the curve where the crash occurred. The Nicklas boy was returning home from Warren when he observed the wrecked car off the road on the left side and reported the same to his father, who investigated and found the two occupants on the ground near the car. They were rushed to the hospital where Bancroft was pronounced dead. The accident occurred at the Harry Johnson farm, on legislative route 61556.

Investigation indicated that on approaching the "S" curve bordering the Johnson farm the coupe continued straight, sideswiping a utility pole, later breaking off a small apple tree and continuing on until it crashed into a second tree. Both occupants were thrown out. At the hospital it was found that Bancroft had died from a skull fracture, crushed jaw and probable internal injuries.

Relatively Quiet Weekend Reported By Borough Police

City police report a relatively quiet weekend with only one minor automobile accident on the books. The collision took place in the 400 block of Pennsylvania avenue, west, about 11:50 a. m. Sunday between cars operated by Herman Ristau and Cecil Winans, both of Warren.

A local youngster, who was in the restroom of the Murphy store when closing time rolled around Friday evening, found himself locked in when he went to leave. At 9:50 p. m., police on their routine rounds, noticed the youngster banging on the door, and called the store manager to come and let him out.

A dog, which had broken loose, and was tied to a Pennsylvania avenue, west, store front by some passerby, was restored to its South Side owner by police, who identified the animal from its license.

A car parked in Crescent Park for several days was ordered towed away.

Never a week end without at least one family battle, the past few days was no exception. Officers, called to the Conewago avenue section, restored peace by locking up one of the gladiators. In addition, they locked up two drunks, and arranged for another to be admitted at Warren State Hospital.

Civilians Scan Skies to Help Plug Gaps in Radar Screens

Washington (AP)—Civilian eyes and ears have begun plugging the gaps in America's radar screen in a round-the-clock sky watch to guard the United States from sneak air attacks.

More than 150,000 volunteers began going on shifts at about 6,000 stations in 27 states stretched across the northern rim of the country and down the east and west coasts. But the Air Force said it urgently needs another 350,000 civilians to do the job properly.

The human lookouts are needed, the Air Force explained, to make up for the scientific weakness of radar. For one thing its tentacles cannot reach beyond the earth's curvature. For another, radar cannot detect planes sneaking in under 5,000 feet in mountainous or hilly country.

In conjunction with this program, the Army disclosed last month it had moved anti-aircraft batteries into positions of readiness around strategic targets.

The Army said this precaution had no special significance other than "an increased state of operational readiness."

The air watchers, using binoculars, will report suspicious or unidentified aircraft to 32 filter stations. The information will be passed along and checked in a co-operative network set up by the Air Force and the Air Defense Command.

DECISION OF UNION MAY BE MADE LATER

Pittsburgh (AP)—A spokesman for the CIO United Steelworkers reported today striking U.S.W. leaders regard the steel industry's new peace offer as unsatisfactory.

Company executives tossed the 43-day old walkout into the union's lap over the weekend by saying they had made suggestions for ending the work stoppage and were waiting for the union's answer.

No formal answer has been forthcoming. But a union source declared: "It think it's obvious what our reaction is—unsatisfied."

The union declined to confirm reports Murray is debating summoning his wage-policy committee here about Thursday or Friday to make the formal decision against accepting the undisclosed company offers.

The latest negotiations hit a snag after industry reportedly proposed a watered-down version of the union shop compulsory union membership and other undisclosed suggestions for ending the defense-crippling strike.

An industry statement said: "Those suggestions are still under consideration by the union. There are no definite arrangements for further meetings."

Top steel executives left this steel capital yesterday after an apparently fruitless meeting with Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers union.

Murray had nothing to say about the industry statement. "The last word from the sliver-thatched union chieftain was that further negotiations are 'contingent upon developments.'" He did not elaborate.

U. S. Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry, asked the government for a steel-price increase Saturday. This immediately set off the weekend talks between Murray and the industry.

This is the crux of the dispute: Murray wants a union shop. Industry is willing to go along on a modified plan if the government grants a price increase.

PA. WEEK CHAIRMAN WILL ATTEND MEETING

Prothonotary Ralph E. Sires, Warren county general chairman for Pennsylvania Week, will go to Conneaut Lake Wednesday—here he will attend a northwestern regional meeting of county chairmen for the celebration, scheduled for 11 a. m. at the Hotel Conneaut. Attending with Mr. Sires will be Sam Loomis, chairman of transportation, and David Potter, chairman of radio publicity.

Following the Conneaut Lake meeting, Mr. Sires will leave for Wellsboro where he will attend the annual convention of Pennsylvania Prothonotaries, to be held at the Penn-Wells Hotel on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

PITTSBURGH HAS A $100,000 FIRE LOSS

Pittsburgh (AP)—A $100,000 fire roared through a three-story brick building in the heart of Pittsburgh yesterday. For a time the blaze threatened to set fire to an entire block.

Playgrounds Officials Complete Plans For Annual "Huck Finn" Day Thursday

Thursday, at 1:30 p. m. is the time for Warren youngsters to don the costumes of Mark Twain's immortal character and his girl friend, Becky Thatcher, and gather at the Crescent Park playground on the South Side. All playgrounds, other than Crescent, will be closed during this event, so that youngsters from all areas may participate.

Contestants may be either boys or girls up to fifteen years of age and are to be dressed as Huck Finn or Becky Thatcher. Their fishing pole must be home-made and not over six feet in length. The line is not to exceed six feet and the hook is to be a bent pin. For safety reasons, no real fish hooks or glass containers will be allowed on the playground.

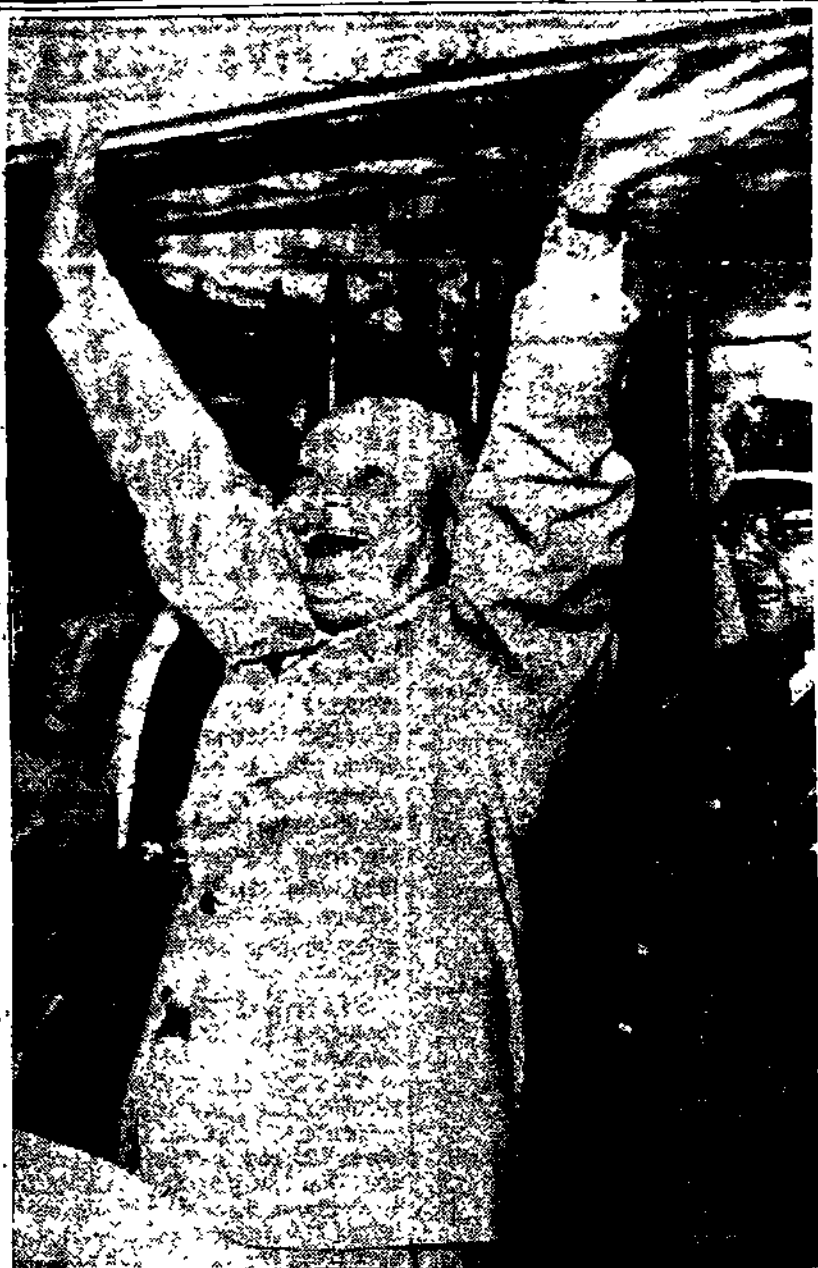

Huck Finn Day, which is rapidly becoming a popular affair in playgrounds throughout the nation, was started in Warren in 1949 by the playground director, Mrs. Wm. E. Rudolph. This year the Warren Field and Stream Club is sponsoring the event and will stock the live fish in the wading pool at the playground. The club members will also act as judges.

As in past years, Kofod Studio, will provide an 8" by 10" portrait of the boy and girl winner who are judged as having the best Huck Finn and Beck Thatcher costumes. Portraits of the winners of the past three years may be seen in the Kofod Studio window at 230 Pennsylvania avenue, west. Cash prizes given by the Warren Field and Stream Club will be awarded to the youngest costumed fisherman, to the fisherman who catches the smallest fish, and to the fisherman who catches the most fish.

Falconer Driver Is Exonerated In July 5th Fatality

Paul Green, aged 19, of Falconer, operator of a Crossly automobile, which struck and killed Joseph Prudich, 48, of Corry, two miles south of Sugar Grove about ten o'clock on the evening of July 5th, was exonerated from blame by a coroner's jury which sat inquest at the Schoonover Funeral Home, Sugar Grove, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The inquest into the death was conducted by Coroner Ed C. Lowrey, with a large number of friends of the persons involved, in attendance.

After hearing testimony from twelve witnesses, including the operator of the death car, and the five young people who were with him in the car at the time, as well as Louis Kordish, Sherman, N. Y., companion of the victim, the jury deliberated for about a half hour before returning a verdict which said:

"That Joe Prudich came to his death July 5, 1952, in Sugar Grove township, Warren county, Pa., from internal injuries sustained when struck by an automobile operated by one, Paul Green, of Falconer, N. Y. The jury feels that from the evidence submitted the said driver of the car, Paul Green, did everything possible to avoid the accident."

The coroner was assisted in the investigation by Sheriff L. E. Linder and Pvt. J. R. Krupce, of the State Police, both of whom testified before the jury. Others who were questioned, in addition to Mr. Kordish and the driver were: F. A. Schoonover, Sugar Grove mortician; Chester Mason, Sugar Grove police officer; Arlene Seekings, 15, Ray Cornell, 18, Claude Keppler, 19, and Clarence Keppler, 16, all of Jamestown, N. Y.; Veda Crippen, 16, Youngsville, and Raymond Pennyhollow, Falconer, N. Y.

Members of the jury all Sugar Grove residents, were Robert J. Morgan, Frank Milspaw, David Wright, Lawrence Dalrymple, Earl Capron and Samuel G. Barnes.

Little information not previously divulged was brought out during the inquest, but it was testified that two occupants of a second auto on the highway southbound, had stated, that they observed the Green car was on the pavement at the time of the impact, and not off on the berm, as had been reported.

YOUNGVILLE

Youngville — The Youngville Business and Professional Women's Club will enjoy a grilled steak dinner this evening in the picnic grove at Wilder Field.

With proceeds to go to the Garland Cafeteria Fund, the PTA at that place is sponsoring an ice cream social tonight in McConnell's Grove at Torpedo.

James Putnam, formerly with the GLF, has leased the former New York Central station building and will conduct a feed business, handling all kinds of farm feed and fertilizers.

Betty Husted, director, and Helen Piper, nurse, were home over the weekend from the Erie County Girl Scout Camp at Hawthorne Ridge. Carol Zelfi, Youngville, is also a staff member at camp, where there are 85 girls.

Ada Downey is enjoying a pleasant trip to California. She is now in Long Beach but expects to follow the west coast up to Seattle before returning home the early part of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Redmond, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osborn are at Prescott Park, Lake Winnebago, N. H.

The biggest herd of performing elephants in the world is featured by the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus this season.

As a performing attraction, they are worth their weight in gold. There is something about the ponderous beasts, so mighty and at the same time so meek, that never fails to captivate circus crowds.

Not only do the elephants appear in the performances, but they also play a vital part in moving The Greatest Show on Earth, which will exhibit in Warren, at the Airport, on Friday, July 18, sponsored by the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In their big bodies there is strength sufficient to haul the most heavily-laden circus wagons, to hoist the mammoth big top into place, and to perform a myriad of other heavy tasks about the lot.

The elephants are but one of the multitude of attractions in the all new 1952 edition of The Greatest Show on Earth, where the grandest musical super-spectacle in big top history, "The Good Old Times," costing more than $300,000, climaxes a show which only the atomic age could produce.

Performances in the world's largest tent, now comfortably air-ventilated, will commence at 2:15 and 8:15 P. M. Doors to the mammoth menagerie featuring the famous young gorillas, Gargantua the Second and Mile. Toto, will open at 1 and 7.

Playing against her were Mrs. Jack Hanson, Moonbrook camp, who hit a 38, Mrs. Merle Lawson, Warren Club champion with a 49; and Mrs. Helen Culbertson with a 51.

Preceding the nine-hole exhibition match, Miss Rawls conducted a 45 minute clinic, demonstrating hitting with each club, describing shots, etc.

The women's golf committee enjoyed lunch with their guest before the afternoon's events.

Dem Presidential Nomination Race in Home Stretch

Democrats "cannot nominate anybody who can beat our candidate."

The possibility of the Democrats drafting a candidate was belittled by Gael Sullivan, campaign manager for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. He told reporters in Chicago "a draft would imply the bankruptcy of the party. We have a lot of fine candidates."

The first campaign headquarters to set up in Chicago was that of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. His spokesman, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, told a Sunday news conference that the GOP choice of Eisenhower improved Russell's chances of being nominated.

The candidates planned to arrive in Chicago this week — Russell, Kefauver, Harriman, Barkley, Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, Sen. Brian McMahon of Connecticut and House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Men in Service

BACK TO GERMANY — John W. Benigni, 141/2, who has been with the Air Force in Germany for the past 13 months, has returned to his base at Furstenfeldbruck, after a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Benigni, 445 Phillips street, Warren.

BORO TO BE HONORED FOR SAFETY RECORD
Warren borough will be signally honored Wednesday noon when officials of the municipality will be presented with a plaque and certificate in recognition of being the largest town in North-western Pennsylvania without a traffic fatality in 1951. The presentation will be made at a luncheon at the Blue & White Restaurant which is being arranged by Burgess W. F. Crossett. Further details will be presented later.

Future Farmers Of County Score High

Entries by Harold Spink, Marion Abbott and Robert Chase, three young men who are members of the Future Farmers of America at Sugar Grove, Farmington Joint school, were judged fifth, thirteenth and seventeenth in the "chicken of tomorrow" contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Poultry Association at Butler, with 114 entries.

Spink was awarded a prize of 100 chicks from the Pennsylvania Farms Hatchery and his entry sold for 52 cents per pound, with the dressed weight of the 12 birds tipping the scales at 36 pounds. The entry of Marion Abbott, which placed thirteenth, weighed 39 pounds and that of Robert Chase, seventeenth, 35 1/2 pounds. Each will receive a prize of 50 chicks. These two boys' entries were among the heaviest in the contest.

There were two other Sugar Grove-Farmington entries, Robert Warner's weighing 35 1/2 pounds and Leslie Firth's 36 1/2 pounds. Winners were determined by records of growth, efficiency of food conversion and market quality. Each boy entered 12 birds in the contest where 114 entries were dressed and judged. The contest is aimed at developing better broiler-type chickens and all birds were 11 1/2 weeks old when dressed.

Two Large Muskies Taken in Allegheny

"Muskie" just seemed to be in order for Warren County fishermen last week.

It was reported at the Times-Mirror office Saturday that William Wills snagged a 50 inch muskellunge on Wednesday evening in the Allegheny, just below the Irvine bridge. Also that his son, George Wills, 18 years of age, pulled in a 40 inch, 15 1/2 pounder, at the same place on Thursday morning. Both fish are at the Smith & Horton Co., where they can be seen frozen.

Then from Corydon comes word that on a recent fishing trip to Chautauqua Lake, Mr. and Mrs. George Lechner succeeded in bringing home a couple of fine muskies, one measuring 33 inches, and the other 31 inches. The latter was caught by Mrs. Lechner.

CONVENTIONS AND THE STRIKE

Three months ago President Truman thought the steel strike was so serious he seized the steel companies. The U. S. flag flew at mill gates, and workers went back to their jobs. Then the Supreme Court said the seizure was wrong, gave the mills back to their owners, and workers went out on strike again.

Today the rust of the idle steel mills was spreading far into the rest of the nation's economy, and the Office of Defence Mobilization has warned the strike had "wiped out virtually all the gain so far from the expansion program that has been under way since Korea."

But in Washington, it was as if in ruling that the seizure was illegal, the Supreme Court had also ruled there was no emergency.

President Truman turned a deaf ear to proposals that he use the Taft-Hartley law and accused the steel companies of "conspiracy against the public interest."

The CIO-United Steelworkers snatched at the accusation and used it as the basis of NLRB charges against the companies—ironically, under the provisions of the same Taft-Hartley law Truman wouldn't use.

The administration apparently has the idea it can safely nap in a rocking chair because nobody is going to pay much attention to an emergency while all that 'July politickin' is going on in Chicago.

The administration might be in for a shock if the nation comes out of the convention smoke and finds itself suddenly running short of automobiles, tin cans, washing machines—and even worse, ammunition, tanks and military aircraft.

"THE AMERICAN WAY"

A three-point program based on fulfilling "The American Way" was proposed by J. C. Penney, nationally-known founder of the retail stores bearing his name, at a meeting of the Jamestown Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Hotel Jamestown.

In pointing to the need for constructive action to preserve our way of life, Mr. Penney, stressed three points that would make excellent planks for any political party that hopes to control the government for the next four years. He said:

1. "Let us determine to stand together as Americans."
2. "We must look to the preservation of the American family."
3. "We must not overlook the need of the help of God."

"Our democratic way of life is in jeopardy," the executive stated, "not from outside forces but from within. We have only to examine the history of other civilizations, fall of which followed decay from within."

"The American way of life is not an easy way," the speaker continued. "Personal responsibility is the price of each one's freedom—an individual responsibility to recognize and protect our heritage."

Penney related incidents of his early life as a businessman and gave some of his opinions on salesmanship and its importance to success.

The fatal accident on the Follette Run road early Saturday morning which claimed the life of one well known Warren youth, and hospitalized a second, both members of the 1952 class of the local High School, is mourned with profound sorrow, not only by relatives of the victims involved, but by the entire community. This second rural traffic fatality in the county within a week should serve as a double reminder to all motorists of the need for extra caution in driving the highways during the summer months. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended the parents and other relatives of the young victim of the latest tragedy.

Those in charge of the program and arrangements for the annual Field Day at the Warren State Hospital held last Friday afternoon, are receiving deserved congratulations for promoting one of the most successful events of its kind ever attempted at the institution.

Everyone is hoping that the Observer will save up some of the fine weather enjoyed the past few days, for next Friday when "the greatest show on earth" will make its first visit in Warren in about a century.

Many a Slip

CHICAGO—1952

Here And There

One of the members who had the pleasure of attending the event submits the following interesting report of the meeting of St. Paul's Brotherhood at Heart's Content last week: Fine fellowship and delicious, generous tureen dishes served amidst the beautiful rustic scenery of the Warr-Penn section of Allegheny National Forest, combined to make the July meeting of St. Paul's Brotherhood one of the year's most enjoyable events. It is inspiring and profitable for each one of us to pause for a moment and utter a silent, "Thank You" to our Creator, government, Field and Stream Club and others who have made it possible for Warren to enjoy so many outdoor recreational spots. The committee of arrangements for the meeting deserve commendation.

Our attention has been called to comments in the "Round About Column" in a recent issue of the Jamestown Post-Journal, in which the insinuation is made that fireworks put off over the Fourth in the Chautauqua Lake area "were apparently bought in Pennsylvania, which has no ban" on the sale and firing of the same. We're a little disappointed in the writer of the column in the Jamestown paper, because we would have been inclined to feel that he was better informed about Pennsylvania laws as regards to selling, possessing or setting off of fireworks. His article follows.

Not in years have so many fireworks been shot off around Chautauqua Lake in violation of state law as was witnessed over this Fourth of July.

In not one but many spots about the lake it looked like an Old Fashioned Fourth back in the early 1900's when hundreds of children were severely burned in these parts "enjoying" the holiday. A casual investigation showed that most of the fireworks were apparently bought in Pennsylvania, which has no ban, and brought to Chautauqua County. So far as is known no child was severely burned and so far as is known no arrests were made by any town or county law enforcement agencies for violation of the law on the grand scale.

Each year the violations of this law seem to grow. Unless some agency takes steps to remind Pennsylvania visitors there is a state law against fireworks, within another year the anti-fireworks state law in this area will be a travesty, many irate cottage owners about the lake complain. In justice to Pennsylvania visitors let it be said that not all those shooting off giant as well as smaller fireworks were from Pennsylvania. Report has it that many area residents go to Pennsylvania points and buy the fireworks to shoot off here on the Fourth.

It was ironic to see children shooting off the fireworks all along the lake front just as we did in our childhood, despite state legislation passed several years ago to save the children of this generation from the hazards we thought were long ago outgrown.

Terse, Tart and Timely: We are informed it is not an unusual sight, but it was the first time for us to see it, when we observed a Yankee Bush farmer harvesting with a tractor equipped with flood light about ten o'clock Friday evening, while returning from a business trip to Sugar Grove. . . . And that reminds us, Sugar Grove seems to be quite isolated from Warren again this summer with both the Jackson Run and Lander roads barricaded. . . . Bill Lutz, piscatorial artist extraordinary, had a great time Saturday morning about ten o'clock in front of the Don Finley Sports Goods store, exhibiting a muskie caught Friday evening in Finley's Beach, Chautauqua Lake, which weighed 32 pounds and measured fifty and seven-eighths (7/8) inches in length, which he had just entered in the Finley contest. . . . He said Mark Cowden was with him when the prize was hooked. . . . Ross Bailey, of Youngsville, Warren County fish warden, who is well known among sportsmen throughout the area, is reported to have resigned his position with the State Fish Commission and soon will take another and more important job. . . . Resident of lower Crescent Park are loud in their criticism of the carload of young fellows who pulled a car under the shade trees just west of the bridge Saturday and spent the afternoon drinking beer, smoking cigarettes and listening to a ball game over the radio while they littered up the place with their cast off rubbish. . . . Several new developments regarding the annual reunion of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Raftmen's Association are being arranged, according to a release just received, calling attention to the outing to be held at Cook's Forest August 9th. . . . Because of too many other important events scheduled for the week, including the circus, we'll probably have to pass up the Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock field trip scheduled for Wednesday.

Politicos Already Worrying About Size of November Vote

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

CHICAGO (NEA)—It may be a bit early, but politicians are already wondering about the size of the vote this November 4.

Democratic theory has been that the bigger the vote, the better the chance of a Democratic majority. Senator Taft disputes this. His theory is that voters stay home when there is no choice between candidates and party platforms.

U. S. Census Bureau estimates there will be about 97,500,000 eligible voters this year. This is an increase of six million over 1948. There will be about 9,500,000 new voters. But deaths in the four years will have removed 3,500,000 old voters.

Percentage of eligible voters actually casting their ballots in Presidential elections has been dropping steadily since 1900. Fifty-three per cent of the 18 million eligibles voted that year. It dropped to 49 per cent in 1920, when women voted for the first time.

This percentage rose to 62 in 1940, when 50,000,000 out of the 80,000,000 eligibles voted. This was the year when the third term for Franklin D. Roosevelt was the big issue. This tends to prove the theory that more people vote when there is a sharp issue. But Roosevelt won by 55 per cent of the votes cast.

The percentage of eligible voters actually voting has been declining since 1940. It was 56 per cent in 1944 and 53 in 1948.

Of this year's 97,500,000 voters, half are in nine states—Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Texas. They contain 237, or 57 per cent of the 531 electoral votes. A win in those nine states can elect a President, regardless of what the other 39 states think about it.

PAUL HOFFMAN, head of the Eisenhower-for-President movement, tells the story of the boy who got a job in a bank after he was graduated from high school. When one of his teachers met him on the street shortly after, he was greeted with, "Well, I hear you're working in a bank."

"Yep!" said the boy.
"How do you like it?"
"I don't like it."
"Well, why did you get into it then?"
"I'm sorry I learnt it."

Hoffman's comment is that he's sorry he ever learnt to be a politician. It has meant 16 hours a day work, and he thought he was getting out of that when he quit being a bureaucrat as head of the Marshall Plan.

MME. PERLE MESTA, U. S. Minister to Luxembourg, now back in the U. S. on an official visit and leave, contributes this one to the year's stock of shaggy dog campaign stories:

Perle was giving one of her famous dinners in Luxembourg. The guest of honor was Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

"He is, as you know, a rare raconteur," said Mme. Minister Mesta, "and he was in good form. He told one particularly hilarious tale and one of the other guests—the wife of a distinguished Luxembourg—was highly amused. She laughed delightedly."

"Later I mentioned to her husband her enjoyment of the general's story. His eyes twinkled."

"To tell the truth, Mme. Minister," he said, "my wife doesn't understand a word of English. She just wanted to make your honored guest happy."

JUNGLE EF

Aunt Molly Harmerworth says the trouble with a lot of people is that they just do everything at the wrong time. Her late beloved husband raced trotters when punes were small and he barely made expenses. Then he up and died just before punes got big and Aunt Molly might have had a new hat once in a while.

WHY REPEAT THE SAME MISTAKES OF 2,000 YEARS AGO ...

-WHICH CAUSED THE

ROMAN REPUBLIC TO COLLAPSE IN 40 B.C.

AND WHICH MADE

JULIUS CAESAR A MILITARY DICTATOR

WHY DO WE MAKE THE SAME MISTAKES AS
THE ROMANS, WHO FAILED TO UNDERSTAND
AND INSIST ON A MORAL PURPOSE FOR THEIR GOVERNMENT?

YOU HAVE a natural right — from God — to protect your Life, Liberty and Property. These are the three basic requirements for making your own living. These three gifts of God were given you with the responsibility for your own existence. And keeping any one of them is dependent on the other two. Isn't your LIBERTY to use the talents and faculties with which you were born an extension of your God-given INDIVIDUALITY? Isn't your PROPERTY an extension of the LIBERTY to use your God-given faculties?

If every individual has the right to protect his God-given Life, Liberty and Property, then a group of men have the right to organize and support a common force — a government — to protect these rights constantly.

Thus, a moral government must be formed on individual God-given rights, so —

THE PURPOSE OF OUR GOVERNMENT MUST BE —

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP — AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

All history proves that when a government does not have this purpose it becomes immoral.

Since an individual cannot lawfully use force against the Life, Liberty or Property of another individual, — then a moral government cannot lawfully be used to destroy the God-given Life, Liberty or Property of individuals or groups.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN L. GILTINAN

On Saturday morning, July 12, Lorraine Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Thomas, Torpedo, became the bride of John L. Giltinan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus F. Giltinan, Jackson avenue, extension, Warren.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father M. E. Dailey in Holy Redeemer church. The bride, wearing a ballerina length dress of lace and nylon net and carrying a prayerbook covered with an orchid, was given in marriage by her brother, Paul L. Thomas, USN.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Giltinan, who wore a ballerina frock of pink embroidered organdy and carried yellow roses.

William Giltinan was best man for his brother; Ross Papalia was the usher and altar boys were Mark Giltinan and Richard Reynolds.

Both mothers were in blue, with white accessories and corsages of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was given at the bride's home for the immediate families. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Thomas, Newport, R. I., and Alma Thomas, Sharon.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a navy blue suit, matching accessories, and her wedding orchid. She is a graduate of Tidoute High School and an employee of the Bell Telephone Company; Mr. Giltinan, alumnus of Warren High, is in the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

The Story of The Three Bears

Youngsville — While fishing Queen Run in the vicinity of Buzz Allen's Camp Thursday afternoon, Ralph Horner experienced a real vacation thrill. Leaving the hole where he had been fishing, he stepped out on a railroad grade and there met a large bear. He started toward the woods and thought for a moment Bruin was going to stalk him. However, after one good look at the marauder, to Ralph's enjoyment, the bear started in the opposite direction. A few minutes later, as he followed the branch grade, a medium-sized bear arose from the foot of a stump and a third, still lying there, soon took off. All this happened in a space of about 15 minutes, Horner relates. He noticed, as he walked along, numerous stumps and a log which had been torn to pieces in the bears' hunt for food.

Interesting Program Enjoyed By Record Crowd of Patients At State Hospital Field Day

With the Weatherman providing perfect cooperation, the largest crowd ever witnessed one of the most entertaining programs yet arranged when the annual Field Day was staged at Warren State Hospital, North Warren Friday afternoon, beginning at one o'clock.

From the parade featuring the Elkettes of Titusville under their capable and cooperative leader, Ray Girard, until last contest on the program, there was excitement and competition that furnished the keenest of enjoyment for the 2,047 patients who lined both sides of the field, as well as most of the employees and official staff.

Opening the program the Elkettes gave one of their most scintillating performances, with a parade that included maneuvers and drills drawing one round of applause after another. After the attractively-uniformed girls left the field the well known and always welcome Pleasant Township Fire Department came truck and clowns took over for about ten minutes of performing par excellence.

Then followed an interesting program of competitive events, including 75-yard dash for men; 50-yard dash for women; balloon relay for men and women; pick up race for men and women; pick up race for women; balloon race for men; rolling pin throwing contest for women; bag race for men and women; summer ski race for men; balancing race for women and watermelon eating contest. These were interspersed with exhibitions of baton twirling by the ever-popular George Olson, of Warren; and a stunt of shooting a chicken out of a canon, by two performing clowns from the Hospital staff.

Launched was served about 2:30 o'clock, consisting of sandwiches, pop and ice cream for all the patients, and during this part of the afternoon's program Lloyd Van Tassel played the cakale. Then followed more contests, including: Dress contest for men; bean bag race for women; wheelbarrow race for men; cotton ball race for women; tug of war for men; bowling pin contest with the staff competing; cracker whistle race for women; attendants; toboggan race, male attendants; marshmallow contest, nurses; and bubble race with student nurses contesting.

Special entertainment was presented by Roger Heeter, Donald Siskler and Lewis Campan, the hospital orchestra and Van Tassel. Prizes and refreshments were furnished through the courtesy of the Canteen. Interesting programs, printed by the Occupational Therapy Department, with an attractive cover by Maritza Morgan, which will prove valuable souvenirs, were distributed.

Joseph Gardner, in his usual competent and entertaining manner, was the emcee and announcer. The committee on refreshments consisted of Emily Leathers and Marshall E. Bucklin; serving committee, Lelah Wagner and Harry Young; presentation of prizes, Miss Harriet Morgan and Mrs. R. H. Israel.

Directors for the program were Olive Bostrom, Arden Anderson, Gladys Johnson and Carl Glans. The judges were Dr. Anita Uhl, Dr. Thomas Phillips Jr., Dr. Lockwood Towne and Nelson Johnson. Starters, Jack Smith, Albert Foy, Robert Bogart, Ralph Fisher, Robert Patchen, Joyce Proper, Marie Kreitzer, Edna Smith, Mary Sollock and Isabel Flaus.

There were 1,113 male patients and 934 women patients on the field to enjoy the fun, which was staged without serious incident of any sort, and all associated with it are receiving the highest of praise from those who enjoyed it.

Phalanx Leads League After Beating Grace; First Church Wins Over Bethel EUB by 6 to 4

Phalanx Fraternity softballers took over the top slot in the Y-Church League Friday night, when they trimmed Grace Methodist 19 to 7 on Beatty School field. At the same time on Municipal Field, the First Methodist nudged a 6 to 4 win over Bethel EUB to throw the first-half champs into the runner-up position.

By the end of five innings Phalanx had grabbed a 9-5 lead in the game, however, the Methodists made a 9-7 ball game in their half of the seventh with a two-run spurt. Then the fatal ninth inning came with the Phalanx putting 14 men to bat, bringing in 10 runs to wallop their opponent.

Gail Grinnell went the distance on the mound for the winners and slammed out a double and round tripper to boot. Erv Rader was the losing hurler.

A five-run rally, climaxed by D. Carlson's two-run homer, gave the First Methodist their 6-4 victory over Bethel in the final inning.

P. Gray was the big stickler in the game for Bethel, blasting four hits in trips to the plate. A. Briggs had three for four for the losers. The win was credited to Jim Farrell and the loss to Ken Sorenson.

Jamestown Now Half Game Behind Hornell

By The Associated Press

The kingpin Hornell Dodgers piled up 32 hits for 22 runs over the weekend to grab two out of three games and build up their slim lead to a half game over the Jamestown Falcons.

Tom McDonald's run-scoring in the 10th gave the Olean Yankees a 3-1 win over the Dodgers Saturday. But the Brooks slammed Corning in a pair yesterday, 12-2 and 9-2 to hold their edge.

Jamestown ran into Bobby Umfleet of the Hamilton Cardinals Saturday and Bob racked up his 12th win of the year, 6-5. Bill Harbour helped the Rals to a 6-3 victory over the Bradford Phils yesterday when he added a key triple to his solid pitching stint.

Chuck Pillar and R. C. Stevens pounded homers Sunday as Batavia defeated the Cards, 9-5. Wellsville lost 3-1 to Corning Saturday, but came back yesterday to take Olean, 8-6.

At Batavia Saturday, Charlie Berry held the Bradford batters in check and got batting support from Ray Cooke who hammered a round tripper as the Clippers romped, 8-4.

Warren Boys to Play With Marlin-Rockwell

It was learned from the Marlin-Rockwell ball club management Saturday that the Jamestown team will be entered in the New York semi-professional state tournament which opens in Brooklyn N. Y. Friday, July 18.

Marlin-Rockwell Is Beaten by Sherman Oshkosh Indians 7-6

The Sherman, N. Y., Oshkosh Indians made good use of their three tenth-inning hits and three errors on the part of Marlin-Rockwell, at the State Hospital diamond Saturday afternoon, to defeat the Jamestowners 7 to 6.

Webb led off for Strickland in the bottom of the tenth with a homer, but that was it for Jamestown after they had made a tie game out of a 7-0 score at the end of the third.

Bradley and Shioieno wielded the big bat for the Indians with three hits each, while Goodell singled twice and doubled in five trips for Marlin-Rockwell.

Warren's Tommy Juliano registered the other homer for Jamestown in the fifth inning for his only hit in the game.

Archery Club's 4th Tournament Is Held On the Local Range

Bradford's John Dodge was top scorer, yesterday, in the Warren Archery Club's fourth annual Southern Tier Bowhunters Federation Field Tournament held on the local range. Dodge had 74 hits for 302 points in winning over the 32 archers in attendance, with awards going to the first three high scorers in each class and division.

In the instinctive division, except class, second place went to Walt Kinley of Sherrilla, 55-227; and third to Joe Sherrilla of Bradford, 61-225. Free Style division, expert class: First—Donald Adams of Warren, 66-267; second—Sherry Adams, 66-248, and third—Bruce McKittrick of Bradford, 61-223.

Bowmen class: First—Harold Baily of Leedsville, 52-200, second—Al Lucas of Bradford, 55-199, and third—Frank Gelotte of Warren, 52-186. Archer class: first—Kenneth Hennessy of Warren, 27-97, second—Del Dye, 23-87; and third—Harold Beach of Warren, 16-49.

Ladies class: first—Alice Crooks of Bradford, 13-53; and second place—Carole Davis of Bradford, 4-15. The Junior Boy's award went to Allen Potter of Warren, with 15-51.

The highlight of the day's tournament was a novelty shoot with standard targets exchanged for life sized jack rabbits. With awards being presented to the archer who could bag the most bunnies, Donald Adams of Warren took first place for the day's kill. John Dodge was second; Bruce McKittrick of Bradford, third; and Bob Raushenburg of Titusville, fourth.

The next scheduled tournament for the Warren Club will be August 3 with a cordial invitation extended to all archers throughout this area to attend. The special archery season starts October 13 and archers will find the legal range an ideal place to get the necessary practice.

Wildcats Win 11th Victory of Season in Beating Bombers

Under the strong-arm hurling of Keith Vealing, the Ludlow Wildcat baseball team racked up its 11th victory of the season at Ludlow yesterday afternoon, with an 8-0 shutout over the Jamestown Bombers.

The large crowd of spectators on hand for the contest were looking forward to seeing a pitchers' duel between Vealing, ace Penn State moundman, and Jamestown's Carlson, a Michigan State product, pitching for the Bombers, but the Wildcats had little trouble in subduing their opponent.

Vealing's shutout was threatened in the ninth frame when there were men on second and third with outs, however, the next three men were put down in order.

Through The Wind Tunnel

LUCKY GUY—Len Dahlberg, known as one of Jamestown's most outstanding sports enthusiasts, left for Helsinki last Thursday morning for the 1952 Olympic games.

"TOO YOUNG TO DIE", was the title used by writer John Scatzen in his outdoor column recently, a portion of which was used in the Times-Mirror editorial column last Wednesday in which he observed, human nature being what it is, we are always going to have with us the triggerhappy, heedless and irresponsible shooters.

Fortunately, whether we realize it or not, Warren doesn't have the big worry that many communities have because of the Junior National Rifle Association program going on here with between 250 and 300 young boys participating in three individual clubs.

Through the efforts of Ross Carlson, a Beatty Junior High School Rifle Club was organized five years ago, and has been going strong since. Following in their footsteps were the YMCA Junior Rifle Club, organized by James Hengst, and the Warren High School organization. And within another year we can look forward to having the Clarendon Heights Boy Scout Troop team underway.

Through the NRA young rifleman train on safe ranges under careful supervision and have learned safety through skills in the handling of firearms. It is interesting to note as well as something that every Junior NRA member can be proud, that over one and a half million boys and girls, over a twenty-five year period, have taken part in the program without a single firearm accident.

This alone is a good reason why fiscal parents and citizens should encourage youngsters to take an active part in clubs provided and to support these groups as much as possible.

The slopes of snowcapped mountains in the Belgian Congo are the home of the last remaining mountain gorillas.

★ GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD ★

Moderns Forego British Open; Sarazen Shoots for Old Guard

NEW YORK (NEA)—"Sarazen Big U. S. Threat in British Open" That headline made Rip Van Winkles out of old-timers. It took them back to the Glorious 1920's and Hagen, Jones, Dempsey, Ruth, Tilden and Man o' War.

A man of 50 firing 60s in the two qualifying rounds of the British Open would be astonishing were he anyone other than Eugene Sarazen. Sarazen, who as a boy knew he was going to be great and named himself Sarazen for the big adventure, is the only golfer graybeards ever heard of who could walk direct from a farm and shoot respectable rounds in the sternest competition. This Gene Sarazen has done for years.

There is a tremendous story in Sarazen competing in this year's British Open.

Money-hungry modern professionals pass up the British Open because the monetary prize is small and the cost considerable.

"When fellows like Ben Hogan get a little older, they'll wish they had the British Open after their names," says Sarazen.

When all-time lists of golf's great are compiled, Sarazen's name must be included.

THE most famous product of Harrison, N. Y., won every major tournament for which he was eligible.

In 1922, the 20-year-old Sarazen followed his dethroning of Long Jim Barnes in the United States Open at Skokie by defeating Walter Hagen in a 36-hole final for the P. G. A. Championship.

Sarazen repeated in the 1923 P. G. A., but a long, lean period followed.

A decade after his first double, the Little Roman bounced back to capture the British and U. S. Opens. He regained the P. G. A. throne in 1933, won the '34 Masters, in which he recorded his never-to-be-forgotten double eagle 2, lost the U. S. Open in a play-off with Lawson Little in '40.

This is '52. Sarazen's cue to take a genuine whack at the Opens. It was his turn. He failed in the U. S. at Dallas Northwood, but turned in consistently fine rounds.

It's too bad the old fellow couldn't have toured those last 36 holes in a jeep, for it's the legs that go. The shots and strategy are still there.

Penn State Writes Wrestling Schedule

State College — An eight-meet schedule capped by the Eastern and National tournaments will mark Penn State's 1953 wrestling season. The Lion matmen, unbeaten in 20 straight matches and twice NCAA champions, will host the NCAA tourney March 27-28.

H. R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, said the schedule will bring Lehigh, Pennsylvania and Army to the campus prior to the Nationals. Penn is coached by Charley Ridenour, one of Penn State's all-time wrestling greats and Charley Spedel's erstwhile assistant.

The schedule: Jan. 10, at Virginia 17; Lehigh Feb. 7, at Navy 11; Penn 14 at Syracuse 21; at Cornell 28 at Pittsburgh.

Mar. 7, Army 17-14; Eastern championships at Princeton N. J., 27-28; National championships.

GRASSHOPPER FIDDLER

A grasshopper makes music by using his wing cover as a fiddle, and his leg as a bow, and if he loses a leg in his infancy, it will be replaced the next time he molts his covering.

Storm, Hills, Winding Roads, Narrow Streets Do Not Dismay the Circus As Tent Is Pitched on High Mountaintop

(Note: Mr. Lindstedt, employed in the Falconer post office, is taking his vacation this week and is following the big circus from town to town. He has been a circus fan since childhood, and will write about the circus for the Times-Mirror prior to its arrival here for a showing, Friday, July 18, under the sponsorship of the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce.)

By TED LINDSTEDT

Amsterdam, N. Y.—The circus moved on to Amsterdam late at night and was beset by rain and high winds. Added to this was the near impossible feat of moving all that heavy equipment up hill after hill through narrow streets and winding roads to the top of the mountain a full five miles from the point of unloading. But, leave it to Ringling Brothers' boys, they can keep the show moving and the show went on at the scheduled time, to a full house.

For the past several days a leading TV camera and movie outfit has been making shots of performers with the aid of puppets. Interesting and educational and TV owners will soon be able to see this right in your own living room.

When this great circus reaches Warren on July 18th under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce the fans will really have a field day. To me, circus system is one of the greatest things to witness that we have left in the entertainment field. From sun-up to sun-down there is something to interest everyone. Of course, those who miss the performance will regret it as this is one of the finest exhibits of skill, daring and endurance of all ages.

If you like good music, high wire acts that take your breath away, and clowns such as you have never seen before, be sure to get to the Warren Air Port lot when the Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus arrives in Warren and have the best day of the year for yourselves. Don't forget that the boys from the Junior Chamber have gone all out to make this a big event and they have contracted the best to make it so.

WRIGHTSVILLE

Wrightsville—The church Aid Society announces it will sponsor a scrap drive for the benefit of the parish Building Fund and asks that members and friends save up their scrap material until notified of the collection date.

Holding a very successful meeting at the home of Mrs. William Scranton, members completed plans for their benefit ice cream social to be held on the A. E. Siter lawn Wednesday evening, July 16. A new member, Julia Hallgren, was voted into the group and members were reminded the next meeting will be held at the Connie Higgins home with Mrs. Nora Peterson as hostess on Wednesday, August 13.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jones and son, Don, of Ebenezer, spent a couple of days in Pittsburgh the past week and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Jones, daughter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner and family were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Orpe at Sherman, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jones have returned home after visiting their children at Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Don Jones, Ebenezer, N. Y., entertained the Jones family for July Fourth dinner.

Mrs. Flossie Gardner, Indiana, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ivan Johnson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jones attended the wedding of Mr. Jones' nephew, Bud Young, of Jamestown, N. Y., to Ruth Ann Granquist Saturday afternoon.

PICNIC FOR REBEKAHS AND ODD FELLOWS

A good turnout of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs gathered at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry McDannell on Lake Erie, at Brocton, N. Y., Sunday and enjoyed a most sumptuous picnic dinner and supper.

Various games were enjoyed by all and with the weatherman co-operating in such a grateful manner, the day was appreciated by everyone present.

Upon paying respects to the host and hostess for being such exceptional entertainers, a most appreciative group returned home late in the evening.

PRUDENT INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT...

Prudent investment management requires the full-time efforts of a trained and experienced organization... the strength of the management of the leading investment trust funds is in direct proportion to the ability and experience of its personnel inasmuch as mature and considered judgment is required... their staffs and officers have had broad experience in the management of capital... extensive facilities for financial and economic research and analysis are employed... over the years wide personal contacts with managements in industrial, banking and related fields have been developed... to the factual information and ideas obtained from these sources the Managers of the Funds apply their judgment and experience in arriving at investment decisions.

The advantages obtainable by investing in mutual funds are increasingly recognized and such funds are accepted as a worthy

Livestock Tour In Warren County Is Planned for Wed.

Business men, meat buyers, packers and livestock growers will make a fifty-eight mile tour through Warren County on Wednesday, July 16th, to secure first-hand information on the development of the livestock industry in Warren County.

Sponsored by the Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Association, the tour is designed to stimulate further interest in the breeding of feeder steers. Future Farmers of America who are fattening steers are spending more than $50,000.00 annually for the purchase of feeder steers in Virginia and other states. It is hoped that the boys soon will be able to buy their feeder steers in the area.

Starting at the Frank L. Dodd farm near Columbus, where the tourists will see a dairy with 115 Holsteins, they will proceed four miles to the Sugar Grove Farmington School grounds where six FFA boys will exhibit the steers they are fattening for the Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Association's sale at Crawford County Fair grounds near Meadville on October 22nd. Their teacher will explain the feeding and management program which the boys are following. Next stop two miles further will be the farm of Harding & Sons where were bred both the 1951 Grand Champion at the Northwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Association Show and the 1950 Reserve Champion.

Then will follow a ten mile run to Mark Haskin's 200-acre farm where Birdfoot Trefoil Pasture will be studied and where the 1951 Grand Champion two year old at the New York State Fair at Syracuse was raised. Then 21 miles to Stanley and Earl Lawrence's farm to study their Winter Feeding Program; four miles more to Robert Johnson's farm who won the 1951 Warren County Green Pasture Contest and to inspect his Contour Strip Cropping his diversion Terrace and Farm Pond.

The "tourists" will proceed another four miles to Warren where they will disband.

OIL SOURCES

Generally speaking, petroleum deposits occur in sedimentary rocks. Most oil is found in beds of sand, sandstone, or limestone, with which are commonly associated beds of shale or clay.

The ancient Romans greatly advanced the art of glass-blowing. They blew it into molds, cutting, decorating and coloring it.

In using balloons to lift objects, about 13 cubic feet of hydrogen is required to lift one pound.

consisting of approximately 12,004 lineal feet of street, or 26,000 square yards of surfacing.

All of said work to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Borough Engineer. Plans and Specifications may be obtained from the Borough Secretary at her office in Tidioute, Pennsylvania, or from the Borough Engineer at his office in the Municipal Building, Warren, Pennsylvania, upon depositing $5.00 for each set of said documents. The entire deposit will be refunded to the actual bidders.

Each bid must be for furnishing the labor and materials, tools and equipment, and completing the resurfacing of said streets.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check of the bidder for 10% of the amount of the bid, as a guaranty that the bidder will enter into a contract for the work specified, and furnish the required bonds and affidavits, if the bid is accepted.

Chapter 27

JOHN TAYLOR replaced the telephone receiver and made no turn about when the shadow cast upon the wall before him caused him to jerk back, slightly startled.

"You were talking to Danny. Is that it?"

Kate stood framed in the doorway, a scowl tightly held against her hair and fastened beneath her chin.

"You promised to stay downtown, Kate."

"I know. That was yesterday."

"Why have you come here, then?"

"I want to talk with Danny. Where is he?"

"At Berowra Waters. With Gardiner."

"Let me telephone him. What's the number?"

Taylor interposed himself between the woman and the telephone table.

"Before you do that, Kate, what's on your mind?"

"Why didn't you tell me that Gardiner spiked me in Wade's Hole?"

"The O'Bourke girl told you. I might have known."

"Yes. You're supposed to be a psychologist, too. Yet you'd trust a woman with a conscience!"

You're just a little playboy, Johnny, like a kid with a mecano set. Why don't you get wise. Now, what's the number?"

Taylor thrust forward a chair, but the woman declined.

Now, if you phone Danny and tell him the whole story, he'll kill Gardiner. That's good. Gardiner's dead. So Danny gets ten years for manslaughter. Ten, at least. That, Kate, of the five years he did for maliciously wounding a cop, will represent about a quarter of his life behind bars. Now go ahead and telephone. The number is Berowra seven two eight."

lice either. I was just talking to Danny. Gardiner's so near to being stark, raving mad that it doesn't matter. He doesn't know what's going on. He feels fenced in. He's in what we call a manic-depressive state. When the crisis comes the only way out'll be self-destruction. Paul will commit suicide within a week. It'll be torturous and slow. I don't think that even you will be able to object to the manner of his death."

"You're doing this for Melisande, aren't you?"

"Partly."

"I don't know. I'm no psychologist. Perhaps it'll work out the way you said. Like you said, I don't want Danny in any bother with the police. That spin he got just about did for him. So, I suppose it's up to you, Skipper."

"I know what I'm doing. Kate—providing you stay in hiding. We expect Gardiner back here any time now."

"Well, here's one thing you can put your shirt on, Skipper. If your little mecano-set thing doesn't work out—he won't get away from me. That's sure."

"O.K., we'll leave it at that for now."

IT WAS well into the afternoon before Paul Gardiner woke; and in the period of his sleeping Melisande endured a torture of turned nightmares, compounded of uncertainty, mystification, anger—and common fear. She was angry for the reason that there were things afoot of which apparently everybody was cognizant but herself. She was taking place between Paul and Danny and John Taylor—and possibly Kate, too—something deep and significant—but of the parties engaged in the new drama she herself knew least about it and she felt that it touched her perhaps more intimately than any of them. What was it, then, that lay behind this obstinate wall of innuendo, threat, mystery and conspiracy? Instinctively, she felt that all of it centered round the person of Kate Sale, who within the last week had gradually assumed that figure in some bad dream. The presence of Kate's father here at Berowra Waters she now knew to be part of a carefully-prepared design, probably initiated by John Taylor. What kind of a world was it, anyway, where people simply took full control of one's private life, shutting personalities back and forth, like pawns on a chess-board, guarding, watching, protecting?

Protecting? There, perhaps, lay the answer to her half-formed questions. Never was there a figure more symbolic of protection than the great bulk of Danny Sale, rifle forever carelessly slung in the crook of his arm and eyes obliquely fixed upon half the Universe. Why had John Taylor sent Danny down here in the guise of caretaker? Why had Danny spoken so malevolently of Paul?

Paul could provide the answer—if only he would speak. But his manner during the past few days had been strange and unapproachable and she dared not make a direct appeal to him for the simple reason that there was nothing definite to proceed with.

Something would have to break soon, she felt. It was impossible to go on living forever on the bottom step of an infinite question mark and even though the climb to its summit be gruelling, and perhaps paved with boulders of tragedy, better far that the attempt be made now—now—

And so she would wake Paul and talk to him.

"Paul—what is Kate's father doing here?"

"So he's been talking." He pondered a while. "I gather it has something to do with his health. He's cancerous, you know."

"You didn't tell me he was Kate's father, Paul!"

"Neither did I tell you that he's sixty years of age and once served five years for assault and battery. Didn't you know I am the uncommunicative type? I'm for peace at any price. Go away, Sandy."

"Paul—talk to me. What's going on? Danny's watching you like a cat watching a mouse."

"Mouse? Thank you."

"I didn't mean that—exactly. But there's something happening and you know what it is. Won't you tell me—please?"

"I haven't the vaguest notion."

"You're lying!"

Chapter 28

"DON'T sidetrack me, Paul. There's something about Kate and you and Danny and John Taylor—but particularly Kate."

"The last time I saw Kate she was staggering drunk."

"When was that?"

"The night you went to the theatre. She called in."

"Why are you telling me about that night?"

"Because, apparently something has happened to Kate."

"What do you think has happened?"

"Suicide—"

"How terrible!"

"I wanted to spare you this, Sandy—but perhaps it's better you should know. Danny won't say anything definite—and there was nothing in the papers."

"You received a parcel—"

"It contained a white rose."

"But why a rose?"

"Kate was wearing a rose—that night."

"Then you really believe this is a conspiracy to destroy your mind, Paul? And us?"

"What else?"

"I'm going to phone John Taylor."

"That's what comes of making false images," she said, half aloud.

"What's that, Sandy?"

"I was thinking of John Taylor. It's incredible!"

"Nothing incredible. Excepting your love for me. Come here, darling."

"I love you, Paul. I really do."

"Why?"

"Don't ask me. There's no reply to that kind of question. You're not angry any more?"

"No more. Strangely, I'm not sorry for Kate. It's better that way. Kate was no good to herself nor to anybody else."

"You going out, Paul?"

"Only for a little while. I must get a sunset from the top of this hill. I won't be long."

"Clutching easel and paints he hurried from the house, and through the window, Melisande saw him clambering up the hillside, his figure inclined forward and his hair standing up stiffly in the evening breeze. She was about to prepare the evening meal when for the first time since their arrival—the sound of the telephone wounded the silence of the house. It was the Exchange and she had to wait for several minutes. Then she recognized the deep voice of John Taylor.

"Is that you, Melisande?"

"Of course."

"Is your husband within hearing?"

"No."

"Then listen carefully to what I'm saying. Are you listening?"

"Naturally."

"Get ready to leave there in a hurry."

"Why?"

"Don't ask stupid questions. Do as I say. Danny will bring you safely into town."

"Is that all?"

"Yes. For now."

"I'm sorry. What about Paul?"

"I can't say any more on the telephone. But please do as I ask."

"I'm not leaving without Paul."

"You're an idiot, Melisande."

"Thank you. Why must I leave?"

"Do I have to tell you?"

"Yes."

"Very well. Paul tried to murder Kate Sale. He might try the same on you."

"Who told you that?"

"Kate herself. She's here beside me now. Don't you believe me, Melisande?"

"Let me talk to Kate."

"Funny how the room revolved and how the telephone, normally to unobtrusive in its wall-niche, now swelled to the size of Mount Forrester—and this voice, shouting from the grave its imprecations—"

"It's like the man said, honey. It happened the night you went to the pitchers—remember? He strangled me an' slung me against a spike in Wade's Hole."

"The voice appeared to rise and fall in a series of unearthly cadences, sometimes afar off, like the beat of a cowbell in the hills, and again, close against her brain, hammering its mad thunder—and then a man's voice, soft and reassuring—"

"You do believe me now—don't you?"

"I—expect so—"

"And you'll leave at once?"

"I must talk to Paul first—"

"You're mad, Melisande."

"I must talk to Paul."

"If you must—then say nothing of this conversation."

"I can't promise that. John, Paul's my husband."

"Is that your last word, then?"

"I'm afraid so."

"Then, get me Danny."

"He's out."

"You're making my task very difficult, Melisande."

"Exactly what is your task, John?"

"To protect you."

"Why?"

"Not necessary, I think I understand. I'll have Danny phone you the moment he gets in. She hung up the receiver and stood contemplating the black telephone for several minutes. Strange how a few words spoken across miles of wire could change the face of the Universe and blot out all light from the sky.
